

Paper presentations for Weeks 9 & 10

Date	Paper	Presenter	Discussant	Discussant
November 4	de Rassenfosse, Gaétan, and Bruno van Pottelsberghe de la Potterie. 2008. On the Price Elasticity of Demand for Patents. London: Centre for Economic Policy Research. CEPR Discussion Papers, No. 7029.	Niko	Suraj	Neil
November 4	Lerner, Josh. 2009. The Empirical Impact of Intellectual Property Rights on Innovation: Puzzles and Clues. American Economic Review 99 (2):343-348.	Josh	Niko	Trey
November 4	Lerner, Josh, and Julie Wulf. 2007. Innovation and Incentives: Evidence from Corporate R&D. Review of Economics and Statistics 89 (4):634-644.	Jeffrey	Neil	Tinashe
November 11	Reitzig, Markus, Joachim Henkel, and Christopher Heath. 2007. On Sharks, Trolls, and their Patent Prey---Unrealistic Damage Awards and Firms' Strategies of "Being Infringed" Research Policy 36 (1):134-154.	Andy	Laura	Josh
November 11	Hall, Bronwyn H. 2009. Business and Financial Method Patents, Innovation, and Policy. Cambridge, Mass.: National Bureau of Economic Research. NBER Working Papers, No. 14868.	Tinashe	Neil	Suraj
November 11	Farrell, Joseph, and Carl Shapiro. 2008. How Strong Are Weak Patents? American Economic Review 98 (4):1347-69.	Suraj	Niko	Andy
November 13	Walsh, John P., Wesley M. Cohen, and Charlene Cho. 2007. Where Excludability Matters: Material versus Intellectual Property in Academic Biomedical Research. Research Policy 36 (8):1184-1203.	Adrienne	Josh	Laura
November 16	Roberts, Jeff, Il-Horn Hann, and Sandra Slaughter. 2006. Understanding the Motivations, Participation and Performance of Open Source Software Developers: A Longitudinal Study of the Apache Project. Management Science 52 (7):984-999.	Neil	Tinashe	Laura
November 16	Comino, Stefano, Fabio M. Manenti and Maria Laura Parisi. 2007. From Planning to Mature: On the Success of Open Source Projects Research Policy 36 (10):1575-86.	Trey	Jeffrey	Adrienne